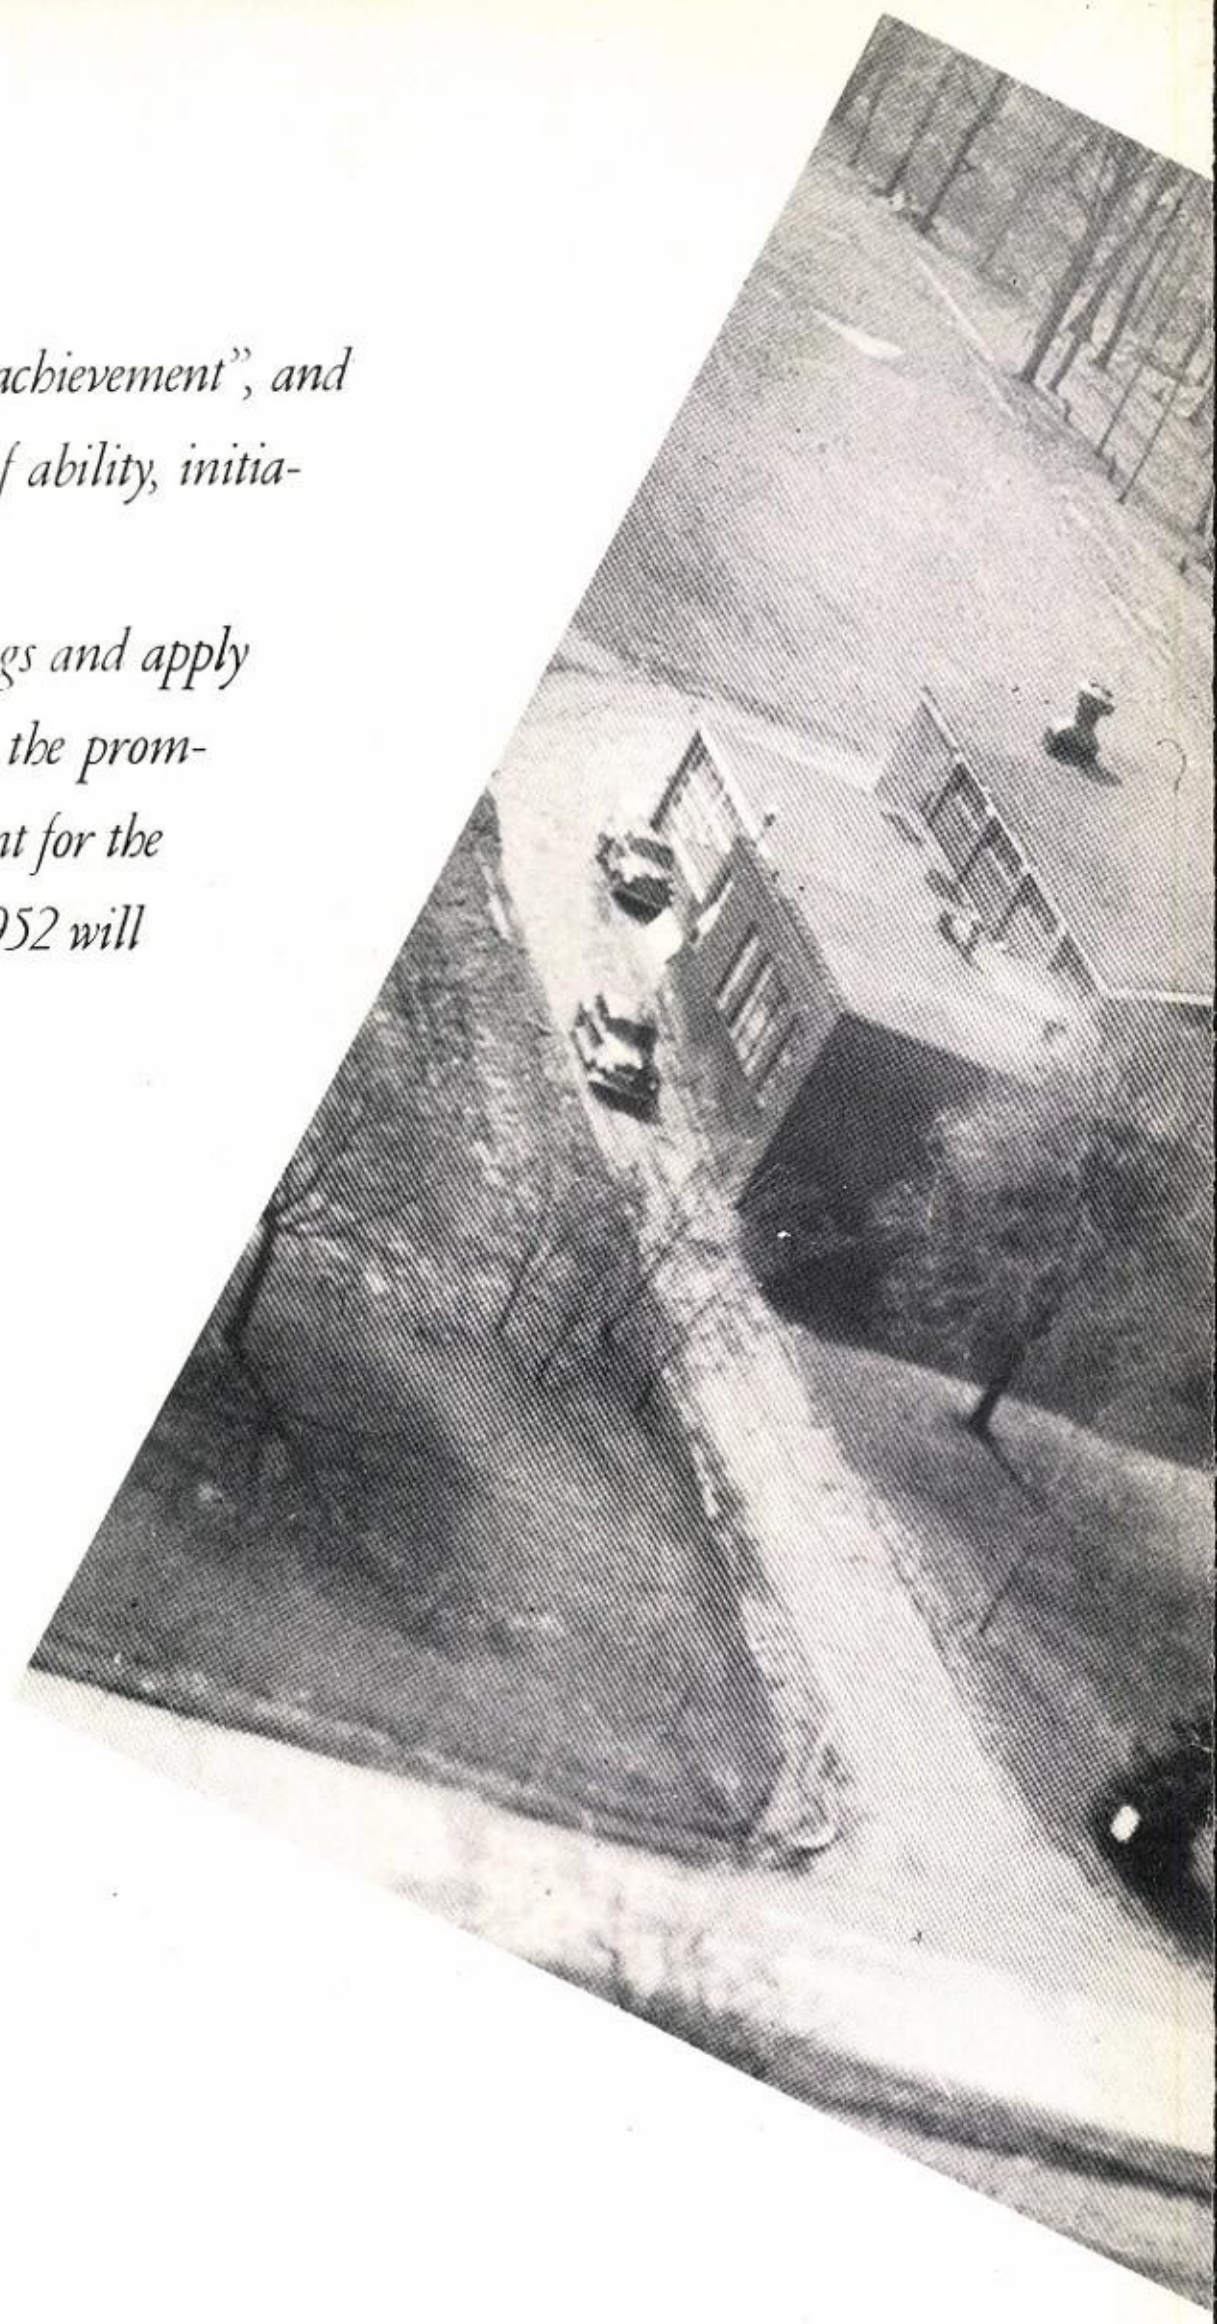
FOREWORD

"Leadership demands constant achievement", and we have been taught the value of ability, initiative and continuous effort.

If we remember these teachings and apply them constantly, we shall fulfill the promise of our youth. When the "hunt for the best" takes place the Seniors of 1952 will be chosen.



DEDICATION

You Can Put Your Confidence In

Day after day, Mr. James and Mr. Schmidt devotedly fulfill a very important obligation that has been given them, getting the boys and girls of Penn Township to their classrooms on time and safely.

These good men have given freely of their time and energies, to take us to skates and on field trips, to basketball and baseball games.

But it has been the little things that have really endeared them to us, their friendly greeting on a cold winter morning, their patience as they wait for a straggler running up the lane, their good advice to a discouraged student. But more than this, they have been our friends, and this is the highest accolade.

The Class of 1952, therefore, humbly and affectionately dedicate their yearbook to our bus drivers, Mr. Richard James and Mr. A. Joseph Schmidt.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Built For The Future

The Student Council of Penn Township High School is one of the newer organizations of the school. As yet the Council has not realized its full potential, but this year finds the organization stronger, both in prestige and in accomplishments. Don Ketchem, president, and Mr. Varnum, council advisor, emphasize the democratic nature of a student council, and explain that the effectiveness of student government is entirely in proportion to the interest and support of the student body.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

The Board of Education of Penn Township is composed of five citizens, who are elected by the voters of the township, and who serve without pay. It is the responsibility of these men to direct and supervise the educational and extra curricular programs of Penn Township's ship's Schools.

With the increasing enrollment, and the rapidly rising costs of education, our school directors must face and solve problems of great importance, problems which affect not only the student body but all the members of the community.

We sincerely thank the hard working, community minded members of the School Board for their work in making Penn Township schools the best.

PARENT TEACHER ASSOCIATION

The Penn Township P. T. A. elected the following officers to serve them for the year 1951-52: President, Mr. Hugh Gillon; Vice President, Mr. Carl Weckerly; Secretary, Mrs. Vera Standfield; Treasurer, Mrs. B. C. Huselton.

The Penn Township P. T. A. aims to do much for the children of our community, for the teachers, and for the parents.

The programs have been planned for entertainment and for educational values. A social hour is held after the business meeting, so that the teachers and the parents might get better acquainted and work together for the betterment of our schools.

A number of projects are planned for the year. The milk programs was continued to serve milk to our children at a low cost.

The serving of soup was extended to serve the children of grades four, five, six and seven at Nixon School. Heavy window curtains were bought for room three, at Stewart Hall, so that grades one, two, and three might be benefited by moving pictures. Lumber was purchased to provide shelves for the office and for the new room.

A committee has been chosen to select strip films for the school. This is the latest project.

Sparked by the inspiring work of President Jim Nelson, the Junior class chalked up a remarkable record of accomplishments in 1951-1952. Their aggressiveness, determination, and flair for the original indicate a terrific Senior year for this dynamic Class of 1953.

The Juniors began their program on a high note with a very successful skate at Twin Willows, and followed their original success with a paper and scrap drive and a bake sale. Undoubtedly, the most important event on the spring social calendar at Penn High was the Valentine Dance, Cupid's Capers.

But the shining hour for the Class of 1953 occurred early in the school year when the Juniors presented their assembly. These talented people actually had the student body standing up and cheering for a program liberally spiced with country style music, and climaxed with a presentation of "Why I Am a Bachelor," which would have done credit to professionals.

Mr. T. W. Hubner, the sponsor of the Class of '53, can be congratulated on the work of his group.

Look for big things from the Class of 1953.

Compensating for their lack of numbers with unusual aggressiveness, interest, and ability, the Class of 1954 has earned the admiration of the school. The group, using to full advantage the skilled administrative ability of President Don Greenawalt, piled up an enviable record. Their fall Halloween party was generally accorded the most successful in the school's history, and their bi-monthly hot dog and candy sales left the students with satisfied appetites and the sophomores with a record class treasury.

In the late spring the class demonstrated an entirely different kind of talent, dramatic talent. The program was well-rehearsed and cleverly presented, but the pussy-cat and canary bit stole the show. Miss Rita Kelly has been the class sponsor in all their activities, from picking apples to assembly practicing.

The Freshman Angels have harped their way through myriad activities under the leadership of forceful Jim Furl, President of the Class of '55.

A gay and frolicsome initiation party, sponsored by the Seniors, headed the program of activities. During the day, moans and groans were heard from every nook and corner as the weary Freshmen bent over with creaking bones to gather up toothpicks strewn about by the untidy Seniors.

The Freshmen are especially proud of a mid-winter dance which they sponsored for a local family whose home was destroyed by fire. The price of admission was a household article. Both the school and community applaud the chantable and democratic spirit of the Freshman class which engendered their project.

A light-hearted one-act comedy play was presented by these glowing-faced cherubins at their assembly in late winter. As an added attraction, several white-robed angels sang three delightful, fast-moving songs, and the entire class, "chewing purple chewing gum," articipated in a rousing and original finale. Mr. Keith White was the sponsor of these angelic students.

Under the leadership of Brad Myers, the eighth grade was ready for another action-packed year.

They got the ball rolling by having a different kind of Valentine project. Instead of exchanging Valentines among the class, they decided to give one to the school. It consisted of a strip-film library to be enjoyed by the whole school.

The big social success of the year was a class party. The boys had a good time dancing and cutting in on Mrs. Hubner, even though Mr. Hubner threatened to give them study hall.

Our last extra-curricular activity was our historical assembly program, "So Proudly We Hail," a story of Washington, D.C.

We started off our year with a feminine touch, by electing Jean Jurincic President of our class. With her as our energetic leader, we were able to accomplish much.

One of the highlights of our year's activities was our trip to smokey Pittsburgh. We visited that sweet smelling appetite building plant of Heinz, where we were shown a movie "Big Kitchen," and then were taken on a tour of the plant.

Our next stop was KDKA, where we had the privilege of witnessing "Brunch with Bill," a very entertaining and amusing program. A place that was of interest to all was the University of Pittsburgh, where we saw the Commons Room and Syria-Lebanon Room.

SENIOR PLAY

The house lights were dimmed, the audience hushed, and the curtain went up on the sensational Senior class play, Mother Is a Freshman.

The audiences were extremely enthusiastic, and after that last curtain call the cast felt that the long hours of practice were very worthwhile.

Pat Voltz and Don Ketchem were teamed in the romantic leads, lovely Pat as Abby, and virile and charming Don playing the Professor. John Weber, in the very demanding role of Dean Gillingham, did a perfect job, and his scenes with clever Walter James, as Bobo, were a special delight. Some perfect type-casting had Pat Steighner, Shirley Callen, and Carole Birch in the role of college glamor girls. Another bevy of campus beauties was Arian Smith, Peggy McCafferty, Pat Leseman and Diana Stepanovich, who were pursued by some big men on the campus, Bob Shipe, Gary Zeigler, and Ed Runyan. Busy trying to keep these gals and guys apart was housemother Artimas Morgain.

The play, directed by Miss Kelly, was much fun for the cast—the spaghetti at Natili's after a late practice, those basketball games between the boys and the girls at which Miss Kelly "reffed," the homemade cakes that were consumed between acts, the backstage jitters when Don got the wrong corsage box. The cast will be forgiven for agreeing with the audience. It was, truly, the best yet.

PENN BROADCASTER

First row, left to right: Shirley George, Carole Birch, Bob Shipe, John Weber, Audrey Pflugh, Margaret McCafferty, Mrs. Alice McCloskey. Second row: Gary Zeigler, Wayne Bartley, Geneva Morgain, Edwin Runyan, Mary Jane Taylor, Gail Monroe, Shirley Callen, Diana Stepanovich, Patricia Voltz, Arian Smith, Patricia Leseman, Donald Ketchem, Mary Jane Wise, Artimas Morgain, Patricia Steighner, Walter James.

The Penn Broadcaster, now in its third year of existence, has many accomplishments of which it can be proud. Each year, many new ideas and features have been added which have contributed to the appearance of the paper, a monthly publication. The attractive covers drawn by the art editor helped to bolster the sales.

The Seniors, who are in charge of publishing the paper, selected Junior assistants who helped in publishing the April issue. The May issue, the work of the Juniors alone, assured the Seniors that the Broadcaster is being left in capable hands.

The staff is proud of the fact that through the paper they have helped to keep up the spirit and morale of the school by keeping students well-informed and in touch with all phases of school activities.

The staff extends its sincere appreciation to Mrs. McCloskey and to all the other teachers who have helped in the past term.

THE CAMERA CLUB

Penn's snappy camera club got off to a flashy start on September 20. At their first meeting they elected officers and got the bulbs rolling. Under the leadership of Mr. Hubner, club advisor, and inspired by president Gail Monroe, the organization acquired twice as many members as in the previous year.

As a money raising scheme, the club purchased a carton of film and resold it at a profit to the students. Not satisfied with their riches, the club set up a portrait studio at the pep dance and took pictures of the students.

Other activities of the club have included a field trip to the plant of Mr. deCoux, photographer and engraver for the Eagle, and a meeting at which Mr. Russell Bennett spoke on taking portrait pictures. At their regular meetings the club also did photo-laboratory work, took various kinds of pictures, and discussed their photographic problems.

With its expanding membership and broadening scope of activities, you can be sure that you will be hearing more from the camera club in the future.

GIRLS' CLUB

First row, left to right: Coletta Dunn, Kay Miller, Christy Knepshield, Tamara Chambers, Joann Bowser, Nancy Simpson, Barbara Lee Crowe, Virginia Heckard. Second row: Mrs. Walker, Advisor, Lila Jean McGrath, Jennie Lee Taylor, Carol DeWoody, Gloria Cooper, Velma Wise, Linda Spangenberg, Betty Taylor, Norma Fair. Third row: Andrea Werling, Sally Birch, Barbara Schieder, Sandra Murray, Nancy Percy, Patricia Albert, Phyllis Callen, Elaine Crowe, Nancy Hallock, Mary Morgain, Joyce McGeary, Patricia Tyo. Fourth row: Donna Miller, Rivie Schlesinger, Gertrude Stephens, Phyllis Lokhaiser, Beryl Jean Kaltenbach, Nancy Sue Runyan, Arlene Bartley, Patricia Reinhold, Joan LeFever. Fifth row: Velma Fowler, Barbara Lee Chambers, Martha Monroe, Mary Succop, Anna Fowler, Carol Kennedy, Mae Backderf, Florence Tackett, Mary Piper, Alice Cashdollar, Ruth Ann Henry.

With Mrs. Walker as our club sponsor, we again assembled for another year.

Our first project of the year was that of electing officers. The counting of the votes showed the following results:

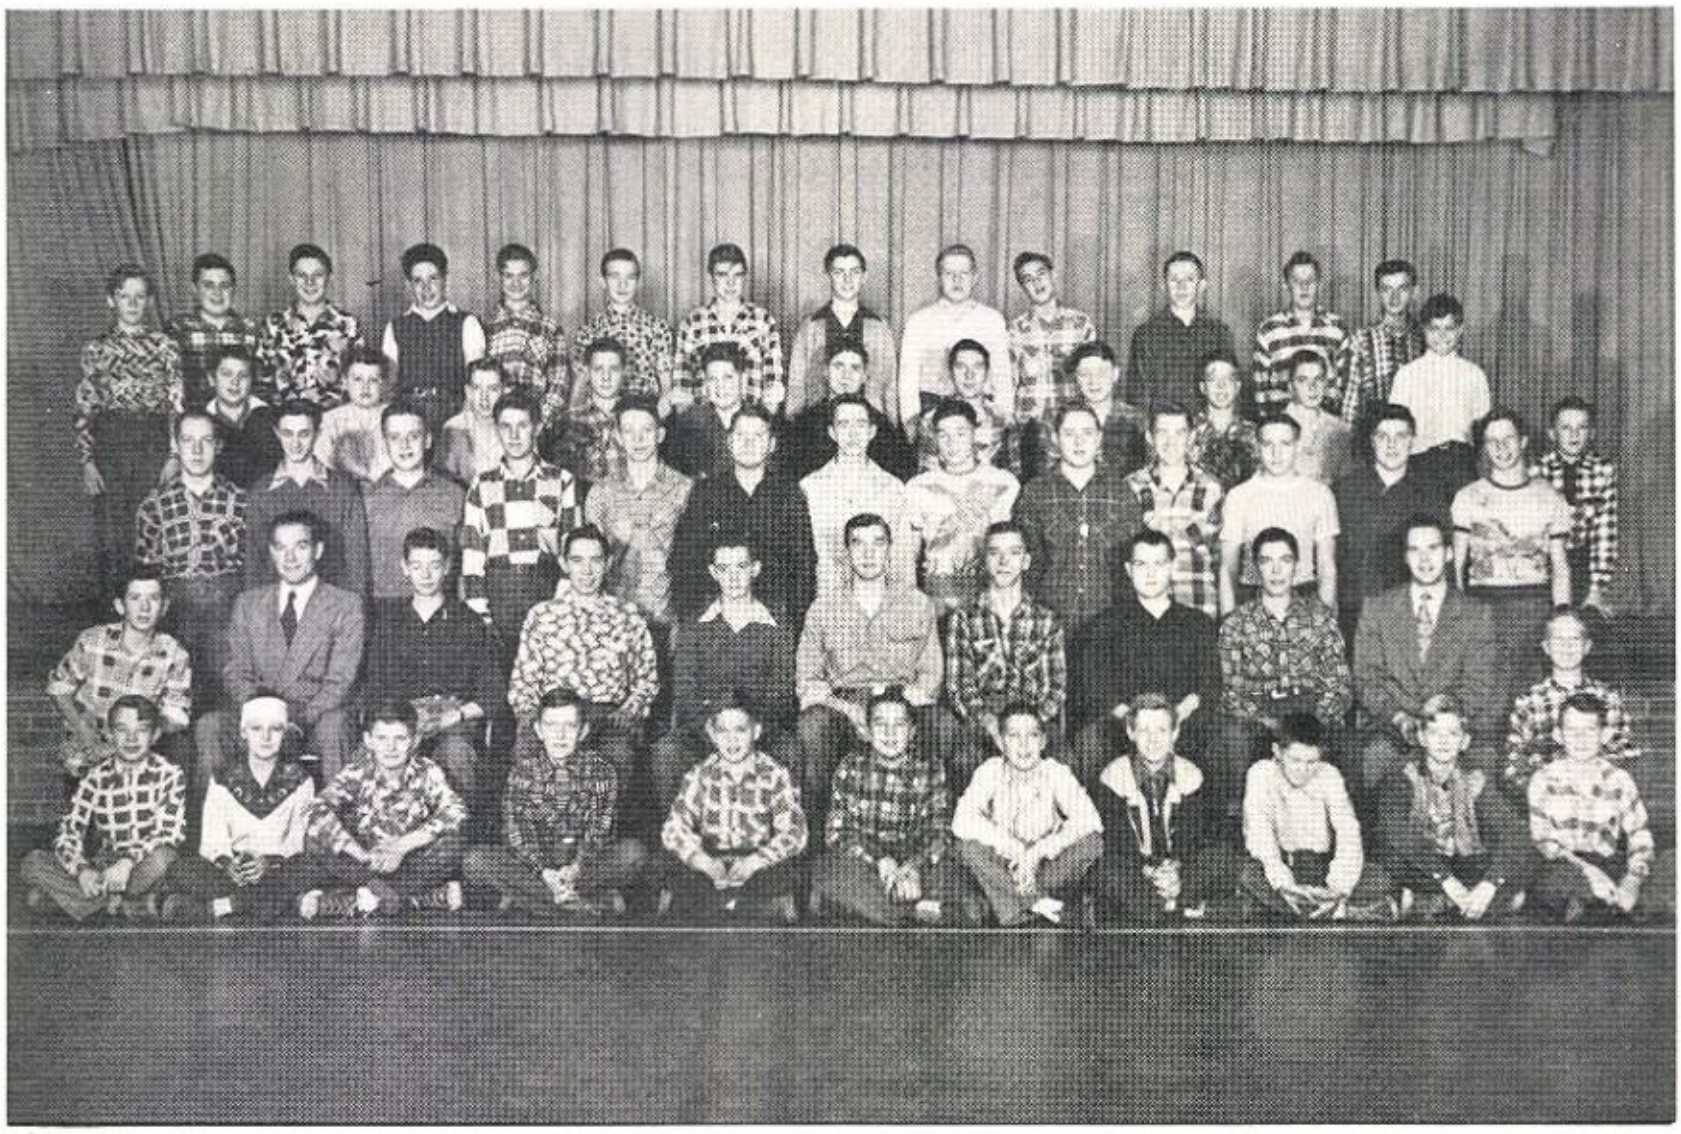
President—Lila Jean McGrath
Vice President—Jean Jurincic
Treasurer—Pat Tyo
Secretary—Carolyn Donaldson

Among the activities enjoyed by the club was a "Learn to Dance" party for the boys on January 31.

It was decided among the girls that identical gym suits would look nice, so with the help of our mothers and Mrs. Walker, blue gym suits were made for each girl.

Girls from the club are appointed each week to serve soup to the students of Stewart Hall, and they have been doing a magnificent job. In our meetings we discussed questions which the girls put in the question box in Mrs. Walker's room. This has been of great help to us and has solved many of our problems throughout the year.

PENN SPORTSMEN'S CLUB



First row, left to right: Charles Grabe, Marvin Marsh, Bruce Johnson, Donald Powell, Frank Dickson, David Bowser, Roy Albert, Leonard Deitrich, Clark Fair, Donald Shields, Ralph Plaisted. Second row: James LeFever, Mr. Keith White, Advisor, Donald Hughes, Jay Sterling, Kenneth Gibson, Robert Huselton, Thomas Emery, James Furl, Carl Pflugh, Mr. T. W. Hubner, Advisor. Third row: Clifford Crouch, Harry Vinroe, William Weckerly, Loyal McCormick, Eugene Chambers, Arthur Stanfield, Robert Lawhead, William Walters, John Smolen, Roland Olszewski, Eugene Irwin, Elmer Lauster, Carl Thompson, James Cronenwett. Fourth row: Russell Hickey, John Greer, Theodore Bowser, William Richards, Bradford Myers, Dale Martin, Dennis Crouch, Leroy Gamble, Ronald Werling, Robert Smith, Louis Morgain. Fifth row: Gerald Wilson, Francis Albert, Robert Hancheck, Donald Patterson, Jack Piper, Donald Grabe, Gary Weinzierl, Nelson James, Wendell Marsh, Eugene Grinder, Curtis Wible, Donald Hixon, Thomas Peer.

Early in the school year, with Mr. White and Mr. Hubner as sponsors, the boys of the junior high school organized the Penn Sportsmen's Club. Bob Huselton was elected president of this group. Assisting him were Nelson James, vice president; Curtis Wible, secretary; and Jim Cronenwett, treasurer.

The primary aim of this organization was to foster good sportsmanship at Penn High. A well-rounded program featured a junior high basketball team, intra-club football and basketball games, and a wonderful party at which the boys acted as hosts to the members of the Girls' Club.

ATHLETICS:

"It's a Hit"

Penn opened its fifth year of organized baseball with a small and inexperienced group of players. Under the leadership of Mr. White, the team was quickly drilled into shape. A lack of pitchers and consistent hitters were the primary reasons for a mediocre season.

Possibly the greatest find was the control pitching of Jim Scholter and the handling of the keystone sack by Irish McNeillie. Much credit is also due Swede Nelson for his fine handling of the pitchers.

Because of lack of experience, the Panthers were unable to register a victory, but a large majority of the players will be back to represent Penn High next year.

The graduating members of this year's squad are Don Ketchem, a pitcher, Gail Monroe, utility player, and Walt James, an outfielder.

20 Slippery Rock 59

The Golden Panthers got their season off with a slow start on December 7 when they were trampled by the Slippery Rock Rockets by a score of 59-20. Panthers of the night were Don Ketchem and Bob McCormick, both with six points.

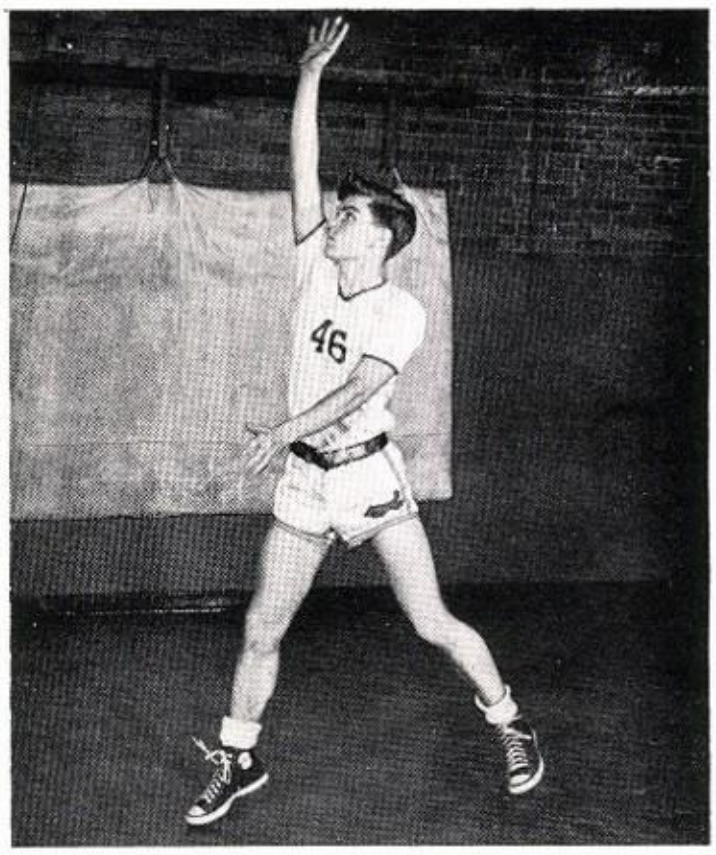
25 Winfield 59

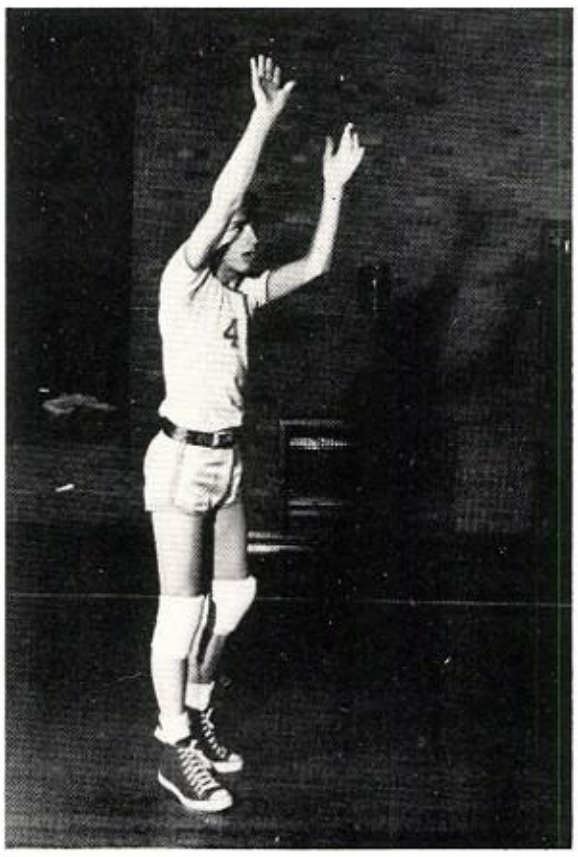
Penn suffered its second defeat against Winfield, 59-25, in a home opener on December 11. Panther of the night was Bob McCormick with six points.

33 Winfield 59

After the postponement of two games because of heavy snow and icy roads, Penn traveled to Winfield on December 21 where they were defeated, 59-33. Panther of the night was Bob McCormick with nine points.

WALTER JAMES
Co-Captain





RONALD COOPER
Forward

46	Plain Grove	45

On December 28 Penn traveled to Plain Grove where they handed the Hornets a 46-45 defeat in a mid-season practice game. Panther of the night was Ron Cooper with 12 points.

38	Slippery Rock	65

Invading Slippery Rock for the second time on January 4, Penn was out-scored, 65-38, in a one sided game. Panthers of the night were Ron Cooper and Bob McCormick with eight points each.

30	Bruin	54

League play was opened on January 8 when the Panthers came out second best in a 54-30 decision at Bruin. Panther of the night was Don Ketchem with eight points.

34	Concord	30

Concord became Penn's first victim on January 11, as the Panthers walked off with a 34-30 victory over the invading green and white. Panther of the night was Ron Cooper with 14 points.

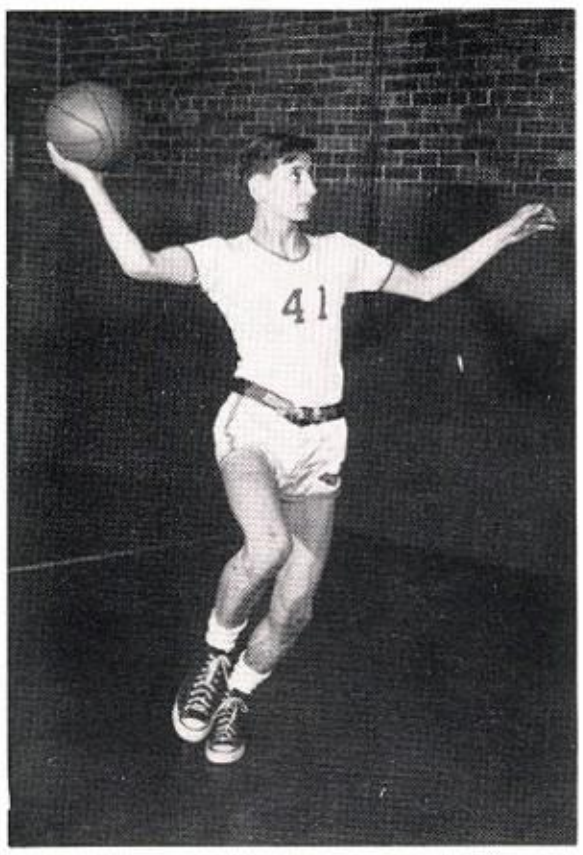
33	Worthington	59

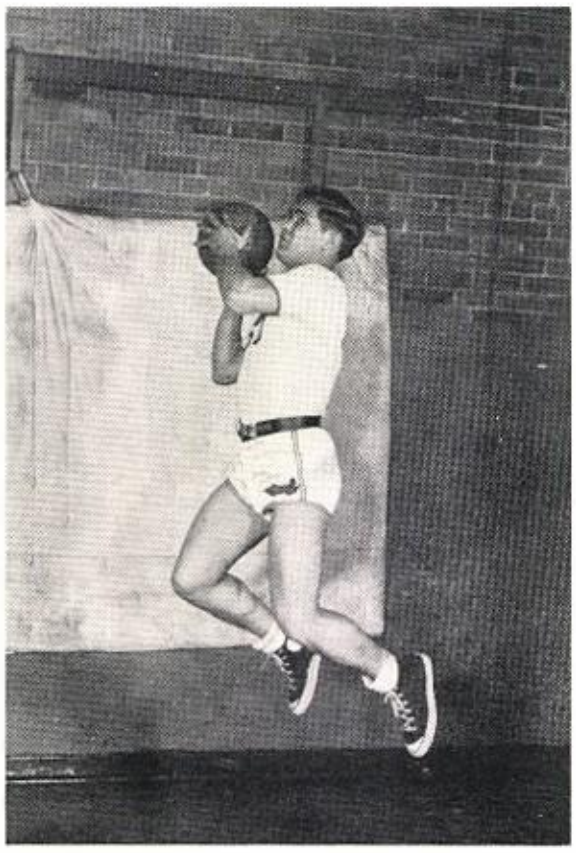
Traveling to Worthington on January 15, the league-leading Bisons, crushed the Panthers, 59-33, in a hard fought game on the latter's court. Panther of the night was Ron Cooper with 14 points.

35	Chicora	45

Chicora invaded Penn on January 18 and walked off with an easy 54-35 win. Panther of the night was Ron Cooper with 13 points.

JAMES NELSON
Forward





JACK MCCORMICK
Guard

40 Emlenton 38

On January 22 the Emlenton team became the stepping stone to a three-game winning streak, as the Panthers came out on top, 40-38, in one of the closest home tilts of the season. Panther of the night was Ron Cooper with 12 points.

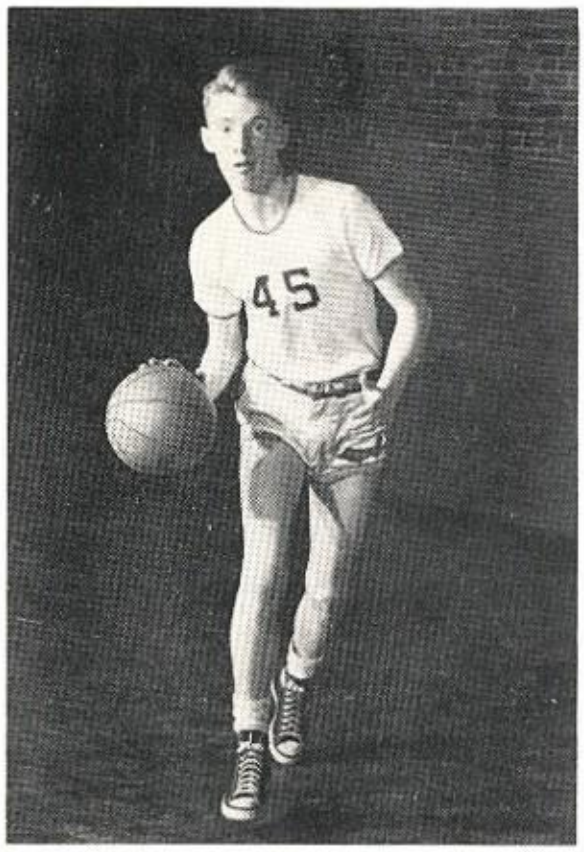
36 Harrisville 30

Harrisville became Penn's next victim on January 25, as the invading Panthers easily trounced the blue and white Bulldogs, 36-30. Panther of the night was Ron Cooper with 18 points.

85 West Sunbury 26

Two new scoring records were set on January 29, as the Panthers ran up an all-time record of 85 points against the invading West Sunbury team. Panther of the night was Ron Cooper, who dropped in 31 points to set a new individual scoring record for one game.

ALBERT MCGRATH
Guard



GAIL MONROE

32	Parker	53

On February 1 the Panthers were defeated at Parker, 53-32. Four of the five Panthers were out on fouls midway through the third period. Panther of the night was Tom McNeillie with nine points.

58	Plain Grove	43

On February 5 the Panthers showed their old style, as they defeated Plain Grove 58-43 in a home tilt. Panther of the night was Ron Cooper with 22 points.

KEITH WHITE and
THURMAN HUBNER
Coaches

53	Bruin	51

Victory reigned again on the Blue and Gold as the underdog Panthers edged out third place Bruin. Trailing all the way, the Panthers showed strength in the last quarter. At the end of the overtime period the Panthers were leading, 53-51. Panther of the night was Ron Cooper with 19 points.

38	Concord	48

Disaster struck the Panthers at Concord, when early in the game, Ron Cooper and Don Ketchem collided, cutting each other severely. The Panthers put up a good fight but the loss was too great, and the Panthers lost, 48-38. Panther of the night was Jim Scholter with 15 points.

32	Worthington	66

The following Friday, still without the services of Cooper and Ketchem, the Panthers met first place Worthington on our court. The Bisons were too much for the Panthers and they came out second best in a 66-32 game. Panther of the night was Walt James with nine points.

24	Parker	31

The Panthers finished their season with invading Parker on March 7. The Panthers led up until the last quarter but were not able to hold their lead and they lost 31-24. Panther of the night was Ron Cooper with nine points.

This year's Junior Varsity squad, under the leadership of Mr. Hubner, was one of the best in years.

Coach Hubner had a strong group of regulars with an equally strong bench.

This was the first season for all but two of the Panthers, some of whom developed so fast that by midseason they had received varsity uniforms and had seen action in a few games.

With these young stars coming up, the future is promising. The Junior Panthers showed fine offensive and defensive strength as they scored a total of 385 points against 458 points for their opponents.

Noontime basketball was again scheduled at Penn this year, not only to provide entertainment but to provide experience and to teach good sportsmanship.

This year the Junior High boys were divided into eight teams according to the ability of the player. The games were conducted under the supervision of Mr. White, and members of the varsity team refereed.

These are the standings of the teams and all-star players.

"Win 'em all," was the battle cry of the girls' basketball team as they prepared for another season. Both Mrs. Hewitt, coach, and Audrey Pflugh, captain, had high hopes of coming out on top.

Games were scheduled with Mars, Evans City, Hampton, and Richland. In these games high scorers were Ruth Pflugh, Marty Wible, and Diana Stepanovich. Although the girls didn't win all their games, they had lots of fun at practices and playing in the games.

Early in the fall the halls of Penn High rocked with cheers as girls from every grade competed for the highly-contested positions on the cheering squad. Election to the squad was by vote of the student body. After a week of interested speculation, the names of the girls thus honored by their classmates were revealed at an assembly.

Shirley George, president of the squad, quickly organized the program of activities. At the fall pep dance the basketball team stole the show. After each player had been introduced, the team demonstrated its versatility by leading several school cheers. Oh, what form! A novel feature of the dance was the admission price, a penny for every inch around the waist. Not only was this much fun, but the profits were used to buy new uniforms for the squad.

The snappy blue and gold uniforms made their debut at one of the most rousing pep meetings of the year, during which a spirited inter-class cheering contest was held.

The 1951-52 cheering squad was one of Penn's finest. Much of the credit for their performance is due Mrs. Walker, their sponsor, for her great patience, generosity, and excellent guidance. These cheerleaders were surely the girls behind the teams behind the ball.

RETROSPECT

Remember the day Miss Kelly told Marty she had beautiful bones in her face.

Remember the day Mr. Winer told the second sopranos to sing "like birds."

Remember the time Mr. White told Don to take care of his physics book and he wouldn't lose it; then Mr. White had to borrow Janie's because he couldn't find his.

Remember the day the 8th graders cleaned Room 5 for Mr. Hubner.

Remember how Caroline Gerard kept jumping on a lady's corns at the Bruin game.

Remember the day Tommy told Miss Kelly she was living in the "dark ages."

Remember the trip home from Westminster—Laugh, I thought I'd die!

Remember how mad Art got when somebody threw away his "good" tennis shoe.

Remember the nights Mr. James gave the cheerleaders lollipops.

Remember the day Gail chased Diana around with a tape measure.

Remember when Miss Kelly called Art an "individualist."

Remember the day the Senior pictures came. What a blow!

Remember Roberta's engagement. She just wanted to see how it felt to be engaged.

Remember the day Don pushed Pattie V. out of her seat onto the floor.

Remember the night Miss Kelly wasn't feeling good, and she dreamed about Jane McCafferty.

Remember the day Art Minor and Bob Heckard ate "brain food" (celery) in English class.

Remember the time Gail fell from the stage and then went back and demonstrated how he did it.

Remember the evening the Senior play cast went to Natili's for spaghetti—m-m-m-boy!

Remember Miss Kelly directing the play in her stocking feet.

Remember the headaches over the yearbook.

Remember the Seniors' trip to the court house. Gail tried to kill his passengers.

Remember the first night of the play when Don grabbed the wrong box of flowers.

Remember the Halloween Dance when Miss Kelly square danced—minus shoes.

Remember the time a certain Junior girl walked in on a certain Sophomore boy—red faces.

Remember Bob asking the blind man if he'd seen a group of students go by. Everyone makes mistakes.

Remember the day Shirley George gave Mr. Hubner the information on our trip to the Court House—She just wanted a good grade, that's all.

Remember Chuck always looking in the classroom windows.

Remember the day the Junior boys turned their room around, and Mr. Hubner didn't appreciate it at all.

Remember the day Mrs. McCloskey had a new hairdo and was disappointed when the Senior girls didn't compliment her—We thought we were being polite.

Remember Gail always making the wrong arrangements with Mr. Bennett.

Remember the pep meetings when the Senior boys yelled, "Beat Truman."

Remember how Don was teased about a certain eighth grader.

Remember the basketball games between the Senior and Junior girls—"We wuz robbed."

Remember how the girls complained about not being able to have the gym floor at noon.

Remember those hats Don, Darrel and Ronnie wore—They looked like a bunch of bums.

Remember the day Mr. Winer had a heart-to-heart talk with the Girls' Chorus. He invited Mr. Varnum to referee.

Remember the day Walt said he wasn't more conceited than anyone else, he just showed it.

Remember how Pattie V. would be sick and couldn't come to school when Bill was home.

Remember the many fights we had over the yearbook.

Remember how the Seniors hoped they could go to Washington—All they needed was the money.

Remember the week we got out of school at two-thirty because so many had the flu.

Remember the day at Westminster when Gail bought four small cokes and one large rootbeer for himself.

Remember the day when Mrs. McCloskey made Wayne and Gary stand in the corner.

Remember the day when three boys rode all the way from Butler in the trunk of Jim Nelson's Dodge.

Remember the time when no one was in style unless he had a lollipop in his mouth.

Remember the time the Senior girls bought out Greenawalt's supply of lollipops before the Junior girls got there.

Remember when Gail thought he was the certain tall, blond boy that liked Diane.

Remember Freshman initiation night, when Chuck "treated" a group of Junior girls to pop. They had to open the bottles on light switches.

Remember the time Gracie was "caged" under four desks.

Remember the day Tom read a "love comic" to the PENN staff.

Remember when everyone spent their study periods in the auditorium, watching the World Series on TV.

Remember when Arian and Pat carried Pat Leseman over a puddle. In the middle their strength failed. Pat's spirits dampened considerably.

RETROSPECT

Remember how well the Junior and Sophomore boys got along together.

Remember the day when the Junior girls hid Mr. Hubner's new supply of pencils.

Remember the day the Freshmen caught a rat in Room 3. What was he doing in there with those "Angels"?

Remember the time when Mr. Hubner's history answer book disappeared mysteriously.

Remember when Tom Emery and Sandy Murray missed the two-thirty bus?

Remember when Jim Furl and Nancy Percy were "kicked out" of math class.

Remember the Sophomores' elaborate plans for a trip to Pittsburgh.

Remember when the Juniors had their bowling party. Who invited those Sophomores?

Remember how distracting the fourth grade gym class was to the yearbook staff.

Remember when Richland girls cancelled the game. Did they really have the flu, or were they afraid to play us?

Remember the day Caroline kept sharpening her pencil in Room 4. Was it because Jim was sitting out in the hall?

Remember the weekly battle between Mr. Winer and members of the Mixed Chorus?

Remember how nice all the members of the yearbook staff were to the teachers. Why?

Remember how there was never very much singing in Boys' Chorus.

Remember the time John got air sick from climbing a telephone pole to take pictures.

Remember the time John hid Gail's car. Poor absent-minded Gail. He never missed it.

Remember when the Penn staff drafted all available typists.

Remember all the tea parties enjoyed by two certain teachers.

Remember the extra-special care Mr. Winer took of all his flowers.

Remember all the excitement over the mock convention held by the Seniors.

Remember the fun we had bandaging each other in first-aid classes.

Remember the trouble the Penn staff had keeping track of all their papers.

Remember when Darrell Novotny got hypnotized and all the Sophomore girls cried.

Remember all the times the bell either wouldn't ring or it rang all the time.

Remember how the Juniors' pop kept disappearing mysteriously.

Remember the time Gail Monroe sailed paper airplanes in yearbook meeting.

Remember how the Penn Staff could never find a place to work.

Remember when Lorelei Jantz squelched the Sophomore boys—but good.

Remember when Jim Nelson discovered a new way out of the driveway.

Remember when two Junior girls always had to run for the bus at Weckerly Road.

Remember Ruth Simpson's tears of indignation when her chum, Laura, was "defeated" in the spelling bee.

Remember when—for a change—Chuck did something fast. He drove the school bus.

Remember how thrilled we were when Wayne Exley got his letter in assembly.

Remember when Shirley Callen wanted to see the referee at Evans City. She was in such a hurry she put her coat on without a dress.

Remember when the Junior High team defeated the boys' Junior Varsity. Big upset!

Remember when Jimmy Scholter worked so hard at the apple-picking party. He held the bag open while the girls picked apples.

Remember the day Kathy called Walt Gail!

Remember when the Senior boys went in for extra-curricular activities and decorated Room 4 with them.

Remember when the Seniors were supposed to go on a tour of the court house. Did they really go?

Remember the day the Senior girls went job-hunting. Did a certain four get jobs or did they get lost?

Remember a certain Junior boy's Christmas gift to Miss Kelly.

Remember how interested the Senior girls were in the filing system at Armco. Was it really the filing system?

Remember when Joan (Webster) McGeary proved that spelling was even being taught to the upperclassmen.

Remember when Carole Birch "quit" school for two weeks and everyone thought she got married!

Remember the day the Senior boys put salt in Miss Kelly's tea.

Remember the time Laura went home with Carole! What happened to the wall?

Remember when Wayne Bartley stopped biting his fingernails, and called Shirley Callen an "old Indian squaw"!

Remember the trouble Mrs. McCloskey always had getting her Senior girls to go to music and gym classes.

Remember when diamond rings became quite a fad at Penn High?

Remember when Ronnie Harmon got his poodle haircut?

Remember when Ronnie C. and George Mansell got sick on the Sophomore hot dogs?
